

Florence Martus (1868-1943) was known as "The Waving Girl." She served as an unofficial greeter to all ships coming in and out of the Port of Savannah, waving to them as they passed her home on Elba Island.